

Your Privacy

At MDNSW, we respect your right to privacy under the Privacy Act, which is a law that protects people's privacy.

But we do need to collect some personal information from you to help us do our work, like in our programs and supports.

We will only collect information in a lawful way.

We will let you know what information we collect, and how we will use it.

We have training to make sure we know what to do and how we can avoid accidents or incidents.

We will always check with you before providing your information to anyone else, like another service provider.

We keep your information safe and make sure it's correct and up to date.

You can ask to see your information if you want.

You can ask us to update your information if you think it's wrong.

If you don't want us to keep your information, let us know. But it might mean we can't provide supports for you.

If you don't want emails or letters from us about fundraising or marketing, let us know and we'll take you off the list.

If you don't want your photo, video, or story on our website anymore, let us know and we'll remove it for you.

Contact us for more information.
